Youth are doing Jewish this Summer

 Rabbi Myers

July/August 2019

Going away to overnight Jewish camp has been recognized as a great way to inculcate Jewish values and strong identities in youth. On ReformJudaism.org, it's written, "Jewish summer camps fuse the activities, friendships, and communal life of traditional camps with the Jewish values, role models and culture our shared heritage. This uniquely immersive experience provides a confidence-building opportunity in which campers experience joy and discovery in a communal Jewish setting."

We have some youth from our congregation going away to camp and others will be having some unique Jewish experiences. These are the ones I know of. Hoping your child will get to do Jewish next summer!

Camp Newman: Ari & Kai Fitzer, Jessa Kleinman, and Elizabeth Halbreich are spending two weeks at our URJ leadership camp in Northern CA at the Cal State Maritime campus.

- Kai writes, "Thank you, Temple Beth David, for helping us to be able to go to an overnight Jewish camp to connect with our religion, and make friends and memories that will last a lifetime."
- Ari writes, "I hope to get back the same enjoyment I got the first time I went there."
- Jessa writes, "This will be my fourth summer going to Camp Newman. I look forward to it throughout the entire year."
- Elizabeth writes, "I had an ever better time last year than the year before and I am ecstatic to return this year to all of my friends."
- Rabbi Myers: I continue to be impressed with the excitement of our youth in being at camp and learning about Judaism. (I'll be there the first two week in July)

6-points Sci Tech: Jacob Cantus is returning to our URJ camp in LA this summer.

- Jacob writes, "I want to go to overnight Jewish summer camp because it's really fun. I liked the Erev Big Bang. This was a science experience very night. I had so much fun and can't wait to go back again!"

Camp Gilboa Habonim: McKenzie Pantel will be going for a whole month!

- She writes, "First of all, it's a great way to learn about Judaism...the bonds at camp are unlike any other made."

Israel: Shane Prunty is going on the month long NFTY in Israel trip.

- He writes, "I am looking forward to exploring the culture of Israeli Jews and learning more about my Jewish identity through it."

Maccabi games: Vivian Halbreich is going to Detroit in August to compete in softball. Hayden Nguyen will be playing soccer in Atlanta.

- Vivian explained to me that she is looking forward to having new Jewish experiences especially while doing something she loves.
- Hayden is excited to play soccer with other Jewish girls from around the world in an Olympic like experience. She is hoping to learn soccer skills from players from other countries that she can then teach her team.

I'm looking forward, as I'm sure you are, to hearing about our youth's experiences this summer.

The Mother's Day Brunch was a hit once again. The Junior Choir still continues to charm the audience with their music and dialogues. This year Sharon Matalon stepped in to lead her former charges and write their dialogues, because Cantor Linder was out of town. Bob Altman accompanied on the piano.

The food and mimosas were good and plentiful. It was Lee Netzer's last brunch as Culinary Director. Thanks to him for four years of hard work and good food. Helping with the brunch were Ted Cohen, Steve Loken, and Scott Telford, who gave a brief history of Mother's Day. Eileen Tobey brought the bagels. Thanks to all.

On Sunday, May 19th, Brotherhood hosted the Final Day of Jewish School Barbeque for about 50 students, parents, staff and teachers. Lee Netzer and Steve Loken prepared and offered hot dogs, hamburgers, vegiburgers, and provided snacks and drinks. Sisterhood provided ice cream.

During July Brotherhood has no social events planned. Our members can enjoy their own summer plans.

Mark your calendar. On the afternoon of Sunday, August 25th, Brotherhood will hold our annual Membership Barbeque to kickoff our membership drive. Planning for the barbeque is still preliminary, but again this year we will welcome all Chavurah members. The meal is complimentary. Brotherhood is planning to serve the drinks and main dishes, probably burgers, hotdogs, vegiburgers, or similar... We will ask attendees to provide other dishes on a pot luck basis, such as salads and desserts. This is just an outline, so check Shavua Tov for the flier and details

Message from Membership Chair

Growing into new changes, takes a little time, practice and patience. It does not happen over-night, and takes on different meaning for each person.

The first time I attended services at Beth David, and having come from a more conservative background, I was caught by surprise by all of the liveliness and camaraderie that was going on before services were to begin, especially in this Synagogue. There were so many conversations going on around me that my first thought was, 'How is anyone here preparing for services to start or much less hear anything, when they're not even in their seats'?! Just when I was having my thoughts, Rabbi Nancy Myers walked in, stood on the Bimah, and in her private moment, recited the Berakhah / Bracha for the Tallis, and then moved right in to starting our service... and just like that, it was truly magical! Greetings and Welcomes were made, and just then I could immediately feel a shift of calm and peace settle upon the sanctuary and its congregants. Seconds later, voices simmered down to a low roar, then whispers, then silence and rapt attention.

Fast forward... Now, I too am one of those lively people that talk and laugh before services start.

Shalom and love,
Crystal

The Malka Family

Las Vegas comes to Westminster...thanks to Barrie, Angela, Toby and Eddie Malka. We are so glad they are here...and there's no cover charge! The Malka family is the newest addition to the Beth David family.

Papa Barrie is a sabra! Yes, he was born in Israel, as were his parents, and he still has relatives living there. Barrie came to the United States when he was two years old, and with his family, settled in Las Vegas. He has received his education in this country, but is a fluent Hebrew speaker. When he came of bar mitzvah age, Barrie returned to Israel to visit family and to become a bar mitzvah at the Wall. He returned home to Las Vegas to complete his education and to meet the love of his life, his high school sweetheart, Angela. They married after high school. Barrie worked as a delivery driver until the family took off for new a new desert home, Southern California. Deserts seem to be in Barrie's genes!

Mama Angela is home grown, right here in Cypress, California. As fate would have it, Angela's family moved to Las Vegas when she was eleven years old. And of course, you know what is coming...Angela and Barrie met while in high school and their love has continued to this day. They were married in January of 2006...in Las Vegas. Two spirited little boys followed; Toby, who is now a seventh grader, and Eddie, who is finishing first grade. Angela worked there as an aesthetician until she received an offer to work at Disneyland....the Malka family packed up and headed west.

While Angela is working, Barrie and the boys enjoy visiting Knott's Berry Farm, and of course, taking in the joys of Disneyland. They can be found at Tempe Beth David for many a Friday shabbat, and when Angela has time off, she joins them. Barrie says the family immediately felt at home at Beth David – appreciated the warm welcome. The boys are enrolled in Jewish School, and Barrie is the newest Choir member.

From Temple Beth David to the Malka family....welcome!

Charlie Niederman, VP, Planning & Development

In June all efforts by Prime Minister Netanyahu to form a new government fell apart. Israelis went to the polls in April expecting to elect the next government. The incumbent Prime Minister, Benjamin Netanyahu, seemed to be in position to form a majority coalition out of the 120 seat allocations determined by the voters. The 21st Knesset was sworn in on April 30. Based on the election results, President Rivlin asked Prime Minister Netanyahu to form a new government.

The Prime Minister failed to attract enough coalition partners on the right. So, to prevent the center-left Blue and White party, headed by his rival former military Chief of Staff Benny Gantz, from being allowed the opportunity to form a new center left government, the Prime Minister moved to dissolve the newly elected parliament. On May 30, he succeeded as the Knesset voted to dissolve itself, thus requiring a new election, scheduled for September 17. The Knesset had lasted only 51 days and managed to pass one piece of legislation: the bill to dissolve itself. This marked two firsts in Israel's 71 years, the failure to form a government, and the Knesset acting to dissolve itself.

The Knesset is still in charge, but it has gone from a post election Knesset in April to a pre election, interim government. There is a Supreme Court decision that limits interim Knessets from making drastic changes, thus it is unable to start negotiating a new budget for 2020, will not be able to make any decisions about economic reform. The new status has allowed Prime Minister Netanyahu to reshape his cabinet by removing incumbents from their ministerial cabinet posts. Most important was political enemy Neftali Bennet, the former Education Minister, who had remained as Education Minister. Bennet was not reelected to the Knesset, although he could have continued in the cabinet. The Prime Minister now has an opportunity to change his cabinet, and to build new alliances. On a less promising note for him, he is trying by political maneuvering to avoid indictment by the Attorney General on three separate corruption charges.

As for the peace proposal, an outline of the economic portion of the US administrations, "ultimate deal", was posted last Saturday, June 22, on the White House website. It was presented to a workshop of friendly Gulf States in Bahrain to explain the $50 billion the plan requires from Gulf States. The workshop is being attended by some midlevel government officials, and a small contingent of Israeli business representatives allowed to enter the country. The release of the entire plan, including the political portion, will probably happen in November, after Israel's September election.

The partial plan's 40 pages enthusiastically endorse expressions of Palestinian identity, from Palestinian food to universities, and it hints at political outcomes. Not mentioned, however, is Palestinian statehood. The plan could upset Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu, especially after an expected win in the September election, as he tries to forge a coalition with those to the right of his Likud party.

The plan's outcomes would put Netanyahu in a tough squeeze: He has been unremitting in his embrace of President Trump, for recognizing Jerusalem as Israel's capital, recognizing Israeli sovereignty over the Golan Heights, pulling out of the Iran nuclear deal that Netanyahu detests, and for defunding the Palestinians. Trump effectively campaigned for Netanyahu in April's election.

Elements of the plan portend security compromises that Netanyahu might be loath to make. Chief among them is a $5 billion transportation project that would link the Gaza Strip and the West Bank. The link, must inevitably cross Israeli territory, and allow Palestinian farmers greater access to water and arable land. The plan proposes a vast expansion of border crossings, which will incur costs for Israel to secure and staff the crossings. There are also proposals to register Palestinian ownership of land, which is important but fraught with problems.

Kushner offered skeptics his position that what the administration "is hoping to do is create a framework where we can change the discussion and get people to look at these problems differently and in more detail, and hopefully in a way that can lead to some breakthroughs." The plan should pose interesting and important issues, so stay tuned. We should be exploring the plan and its impact, before the end of the year.

This article is taken in part from JTA, The Times of Israel, and the Wall Street Journal.

WAFTY

WAFTY and Jr. WAFTY is the Beth David teen and pre teen youth programs, they were created to get our Beth David teens to come together and have fun with their Jewish community. Jr. WAFTY is our youth program for the 6th-8th graders. In Jr. WAFTY most of our events will be focused on getting to know each other and having fun. WAFTY is the youth group at Beth David for 9th-12th graders. The teen youth group includes our own WAFTY events and regional NFTY camp events. WAFTY is so excited to start this new year with a brand new board and a bunch more events. Our new board members are Leah Schiffer and Daniella Chait as our Co-Presidents, Shane Prunty as our Programming Vice President, Fredrich Zeller as our Religious and Cultural Vice President, and Sarah Gamarnik as our Membership Vice President. This year will be providing lots of fun hands on temple events, like our WAFTY LOCK-IN, as well as offsite activities, like going to Knott's Berry Farm. This year is going to be a lot of fun so we hope everyone will want to get involved!

Lobby Day: Bringing RAC-CA's full power to the State Capitol

Save the Date: RAC-CA 2019 Lobby Day

This August, join Reform Jewish rabbis, cantors, adults, and teens from congregations across the state as we gather in Sacramento to lobby for a better California. We'll urge our legislators to make the Golden State reflect our Jewish values of justice, compassion, and wholeness. The event takes place on Tuesday, August 20 from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the State Capitol. This is RAC-CA's most powerful and transformative event of the year. We'll teach you how to lobby and then break into small groups to meet with lawmakers from your districts. We'll also meet together with one of California's top political leaders – watch for a blockbuster announcement of this year's speaker, coming soon! The best way to experience RAC-CA Lobby Day is with others from your congregation, youth group, or Reform community. The lobbying will be more impactful and you'll be able to bring back a collective sense of excitement and energy around social justice work. Please pass on this email and actively recruit members of your congregation. Personal conversations, calls, and notes are the most effective forms of outreach.

Please register today for lobby day!
