I got the COVID Blues

Rabbi Myers

January/February 2021

Is it because I have at least 4 crumbled face masks in my purse at any given time? Maybe it's the multiple bottles of hand sanitizer that are strewn on my desk and rolling around in my car. Perhaps, it's because I can't go to the movie theater or restaurants. Or is it the lack of socialization with friends, family, and congregants? It's likely all the above because I got the Covid blues. I'm sure you do, too. There is so much hardship, illness, anxiety and worry to fill an ocean. And even with a vaccine just starting to be accessible, we are still deep in the depths. Despair, frustration, and agitation inflict all of us, at some point or another, as we strive to get through the days, weeks, and months.

Rabbi Nahman of Bratzlav, a late 18th century Hassidic rabbi, offers some perspective on times of darkness and uncertainty. He writes in Likutei Moharan about the thick cloud at Sinai where revelation was to occur. The Israelites saw this threatening cloud and backed away from it. When times are hard, when we are fearful, there is an instinct to withdraw and step back. However Bratzlav says, "The hindrance is like a thick cloud, for a thick cloud is dark and a hindrance is dark." What is a hindrance? For Bratzlav, it is anything that obscures God's presence. For us, hindrances can be letdowns, moments of doubt, obstacles, challenges, and hardship. We all experience great disappointments and lapses of hope. But what do we do when we find ourselves surrounded by darkness?

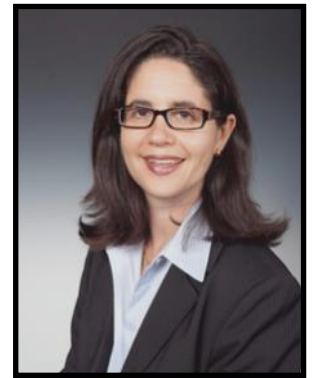

Bratzlav teaches that "God actually hides the divine self in the hindrance." That is, in the hardest of times, in the darkness night in Egypt, God is there. Bratzlav says that Moses understood this and stepped into the cloud. As he walked through it, he experiences the hidden God.

It's an intriguing thought. Many of us associate God when good things happen such as the birth of a child, a majestic mountain, recovery, or the beautiful ocean. Bratzlav, however, says that God can be found especially in the thick clouds of doubt, uncertainty, and fear. In other words, when there is sorrow and pain, God is in the darkness and we shouldn't step back from it, rather we need to traverse through it.

So one has to ask oneself, "Where is God in this pandemic?" We can say in the tireless work of our health care workers, the incredible scientists who have created multiple vaccines, and all the essential workers who keep the grocery stores stocked and our streets safe. But we can experience God also in those precious moments of connection when we talk with a loved one, relate to a friend on a screen, and experience a bit of goodness from another. There are many who are using this time of darkness, to elevate their humanity by doing what they can, to help others and raise up friends who succumb to the Covid blues. In essence, there is godliness even in hard times. There is light in darkness and opportunity in adversity. May our hope and perseverance give us some illumination as we traverse the obscure months ahead. May we know that God is with us even in darkness and that we are never alone. And perhaps together, we can lessen the Covid blues knowing that there are better times to come.

President's Message

"Family and comfort."
- Teri Roth on "What Beth David means to Us"

Strong communities support their people and the strength of our Beth David community has never been more apparent than it was at the end of 2020. As we all know, layoffs and declining incomes are but a few of the many challenges people around the country and the world are facing as a result of the pandemic. For many of us, these challenges seem distant – we see it on the news, or hear stories of friends of friends. But some in our community were really listening last fall, and began to hear stories from our Beth David members: stories of real hardship, months of unemployment, struggles to buy food or make rent.

In response, quietly and behind the scenes, one of our stalwart members with a (very) big heart moved quickly to respond. With a few text messages and phone calls, this person procured flagship donations made anonymously. Within a week, assistance was sent out to members. As this all took shape, it stood for me as yet another reminder of who we are as a community. We support and look after our members. As an aside, if you are interested in participating, please reach out to the Rabbi and she can guide you in making an anonymous contribution as well.

With this as backdrop, let's all take a moment to celebrate who we are and what we can do as a Temple family. We are fortunate to have so many members of our community who volunteer their time enhancing our worship, music, and making our technology work. We have incredible men and women in our Brotherhood and Sisterhood creating programs that are very meaningful. Our Caring Community reaches out in compassion and love to those experiencing loss. And many of you take the time to call one another helping us know that we are not alone.

This is a time where we can continue to comfort each other as we share stories, cross paths real and virtual, and look forward to what more we can do together in the coming months and years.

Sincerely,

Andrea Chait

Andrea Chait-Walter, President

Beth David Brotherhood

January/February 2021

By Lee Netzer

As we enter the New Calendar Year, I can see light at the end of a dark tunnel, and look forward with renewed hope that things will return to some semblance of normality in the not too distant future. In the meantime, the Brotherhood will continue to operate in pandemic mode. The latest casualty was the December 13 Chanukah celebration, which was funded by the Brotherhood. It was originally scheduled as an in-person event outside, but with the virus raging out of control, the only safe option was a virtual, live streamed event. Nevertheless, it was a joyous celebration, with teachings by the Rabbi, songs by the Cantor, a very entertaining and funny magician, and a Chanukiah-making competition, with videos of the winning entries shown. The winners were Aubree Semmelman in the child category and Keri Gee Semmelman in the adult category. Aubree received a $25 Target gift card and Keri Gee received a $100 Cheesecake Factory gift card, which I delivered to them that afternoon. For those of you who didn't get a chance to see the 30 minute performance by magician Hayden Allcorn, I recorded a seven minute clip of his performance. To view the clip, click here.

Because the Chanukah celebration was virtual, the religious school children were unable to pick up the gift bags the Brotherhood prepared for them at the celebration, so we delivered them two days later. The gift bags consisted of a dreidel, several pieces of Chanukah "gelt," a jelly donut, and a surprise gift. Many thanks to Alan Jarrick, Greg Korduner, Jeff LeBoff, Steve Loken, Rabbi Nancy Myers, Elaine Netzer, Charlie Niederman, and Elliot Semmelman for helping with the deliveries, and to Steve and Elaine for helping to prepare the gift bags.

The next Brotherhood brunch, held in conjunction with Adult Education, is on January 10, 2021 at 11 a.m. on Zoom. The subject of the Brunch is very timely and appropriate: 2021 The New Normal, From the Medical, Psychological, and Jewish Point of View. Panelists include Dr. Jeffrey Seitelman, Psychiatrist; Dr. Aaron Kern, MD; and Rabbi Nancy Myers. The Brotherhood is also offering a brunch, delivered to your door, for $11.50. For additional details, click here.

On January 31, the Brotherhood will be holding its 13th Annual Texas Hold'em Tournament, but this year, it will be a virtual tournament where people can participate from the safety and comfort of their own homes. For details about the tournament and how to register, click here. Sorry, but Howie's famous French dip sandwiches will have to wait until 2022.

The Brotherhood will hold its annual Shabbat service on February 12, 2021, but as with everything during the pandemic, it will be a virtual service. Details about the service are still being worked out. As is our tradition, I will announce the 2021 Brotherhood Man of the Year during the service.

The Brotherhood/Sisterhood Membership Dinner is on the calendar for February 6, 2021, but Sisterhood President Laurie Schneider and I agreed to postpone it until late Spring or early Summer, with the hope that we will be able to hold it safely outside. Similarly, the Brotherhood's "Matzo Ball" event, featuring Douglas "The Crooner" Roegiers, comedy by Barry Weisenberg, and a delicious Italian dinner, will have to be postponed yet again. It was originally scheduled for April 10, 2020, and is on the calendar for February 27, 2021, but we felt that we could not do justice to this in a virtual event. We are hoping to reschedule it for later this year, once it's safe to do so.

Every Man a Member!

SISTERHOOD MATTERS...

Anne Frank said, "What a wonderful thought it is that some of the best days of our lives haven't even happened yet."

What a beautiful quote, especially as we end a difficult 2020 and look ahead to 2021.

Sisterhood has some plans which we hope will help you to create more good days in your lives. First, we are forming Affinity Groups. These are groups of like-minded women, like getting together for coffee, but online. It's a virtual way to check in, share resources and ideas, and find meaningful connections with other women. The affinity can be whatever you have in common. Our first group plans to focus on food and movies and will be meeting on January 3 at 3 PM. If you are interested, even if you missed the first meeting or want to focus on a different topic, please send an email to sisterhood@templebethdavid.org, and we will connect you. This is such a great way to meet with others, keep connected, and stave off the loneliness many of us are experiencing right now.

Another program to help us all cope will be on February 18 at 7 PM, when our own wise and dear Dr. Lois Abrams will speak about "Connecting and Communicating in the Time of Covid-19". Please see the flyer elsewhere in the Megillah for details and be sure to join us for this worthwhile program.

It is my sincere wish that 2021 brings us all good health and good days! I hope to see you soon, virtually, and eventually, in person.

With love,
Laurie

Message from Membership Chair

Todah Rabah.....to every congregation member of Beth David. This past year has been filled with fear, angst, loneliness. We have found ourselves locked in an unimaginably small world, unable to perform the simple functions we have always taken for granted...grocery shopping, getting a haircut, going to a place of employment, meeting a friend for lunch, and even going to the doctor – and more painful, missing our children, our grandchildren, not being able to hug or touch someone, and yes, not going to Temple.

For those of you who may not know...despite the setbacks and the fear, virtually every Beth David member has renewed and continued to support the Temple. It would have been easy for many of us to say, ‘Not this year’....but that is not what happened. Beth David is our second home and each and every one of you demonstrated how much the Temple means to you. You not only renewed, you demonstrated your love and caring by live streaming High Holy Day and Shabbat services, by donating whatever you could, and by continuing to support the religious and secular activities so important to the heart and soul of Beth David. Whew! In short, Beth David has made it, thanks to you!

We are now coming to the proverbial light at the end of the tunnel. We all hold our breaths as we wait for our turn. For some it will be soon, for others there will be a wait. But I hope you can imagine the prayers we will give next High Holy Days...the thanks, we hope, for being together again, the gratefulness for having come through this experience with our health, and that of our families and friends, intact, and hopefully, the great pleasure of turning OFF the technology, at least for a while. We do not know exactly what our Temple world will look like in September, but we can hope and imagine.....

L'Shalom,
Florence

Israelis are experiencing their third Covid-19 lockdown. The Knesset has gone so far as trying to eliminate take out dining. Israelis are experiencing the same record setting daily case counts as we are in the US. But right now they are leading the world in per capita vaccinations. Maybe when I write the March and April Megillah article both our nations will show real progress in the fight against the pandemic.

The list of Middle East and North African nations that are normalizing relations with Israel now includes Bahrain, UAE, Sudan still in progress, and most recently Morocco. While the normalizations may be positive steps for Israel, since it includes exports, easy trading, and tourism, but they all come at a price. It is that price that may be a problem for the Congress and the incoming Biden administration.

For Bahrain and the U. A. E. it means US high tech arms deals, some of which have caused concern in Israel and Congress, since those Gulf nations have sold arms to groups promoting terrorism.

The deal with Sudan is more convoluted because it involves Sudan restoring sovereign immunity after it agrees to settle cases brought against it in US courts, in part by victims of the 1988 bombing of US embassies in Kenya and Tanzania. The settlement is set at $335 million dollars. It also involves the US taking Sudan off its list of countries that support terrorists.

The recent agreement with Morocco involves the US recognition of their claim to Western Sahara which Morocco annexed after a war in 1975. The US is the only major nation to do so because the annexation is not recognized by the UN.

Whether the deals made for the normalization of relations with Israel become a problem for Congress and the new administration may have to wait for months and by then normalization may be so well established that it will survive despite any problems with the US part of the deal.

Elections have happened so often in Israel that another new one may not be news. Prime minister Netanyahu has refused to sign off on the budget and that has triggered the dissolution of the current coalition.

For a preview of what the results for the election, scheduled for March 23, 2021, might look like, a poll from December 26 may give some clues. The poll showed that Likud would lose about 8 seats down from 36 because Gideon Sa'ar, a former rival of Netanyahu in the Likud party has formed a new party called New Hope. New Hope would come in second with 19 votes and could form a coalition with Yesh Atid, the Joint List of Arab Parties, Meretz, Yisrael Beiteinu, and Blue and White that would command a 63-seat centrist majority in the 120-seat Knesset.

The election results most likely will not look like the current poll, and a coalition with the Arab parties is not likely, but it does show that Netanyahu's Likud may have to look to the center if they hope to put together a ruling coalition. That would be difficult at best because he will have to win over parties whose leaders have said they would not serve in a government led by him. To further complicate matters Benjamin Netanyahu's corruption trial will begin its evidentiary phase in February, after a delay in the January date.

The results of the upcoming election are likely to be as divided as the last three elections, but if Netanyahu is not part of a ruling coalition, it may hold together for the full 4-year term. The Union for Reform Judaism is setting up a pilot cohort of congregations for the Israel Leadership Network and Beth David will be part of it. It will explore groundbreaking work to make Israel a meaningful part of congregational life. At Beth David the congregational trips to Israel that the rabbi led are a step in that direction. If anyone is interested in being part of a committee to promote this exciting initiative, please contact me at cniederm@flash.net.

Library Column

January 2021/February 2021

The Beth David Library is currently closed due to the severity of the Pandemic. When the Pandemic is over, and everyone is vaccinated that wants to get vaccinated I will reopen the Library. I plan to buy the Sydney Taylor award winning and Jewish Book Council award winning Jewish children's books in early February after the awards have been announced. This should be 4 or 5 new Jewish books for children in the library.

I have set up a Jewish Book Fair. This book fair will run until further notice. The link is <https://bookshop.org/shop/bethdavid>. If you want to buy a book or books you can choose one of my selections categorized by age group or search for your own selection. 10% of the purchase price goes back into the coffers of Beth David. If you want to donate Jewish books to the Beth David Library, please email library@templebethdavid.org and let me know. You can leave the books on the black book truck in the library. Do not forget to leave your name so I know who donated the materials.
